

As you prepare to travel, we wanted to share some information to help you in case of a delay or cancellation. Please save this document for reference. An SGU representative may not be available after normal business hours or on weekends.

WHAT TO DO IF YOUR FLIGHT IS DELAYED OR CANCELED

1. Stay Informed

- Check Flight Status Regularly: Stay updated with your airline's mobile app, website, or airport information boards.
- Sign Up for Alerts: Many airlines offer text or email notifications for flight status updates.
- Check the SeeSGU WhatsApp group for important updates.

2. Contact Your Airline

- Call or Visit the Desk: If you find out your flight is delayed or canceled, contact your airline's customer service. They can provide you with rebooking options or other assistance.
 - American Airlines: 800-433-7300
 - JetBlue: 1-800-JETBLUE (1-800-538-2583)
 - Air Canada: 1-888-247-2262

3. Contact AmexGBT and SGU

- If the airlines are not able to assist or need approval, please contact our travel agent (AmexGBT) and copy Erin Berrell and our Campus Tour Manager, Cecilia Hankey, using the email addresses below.

- AmexGBT:
 - Phone: For Travel Reservations 24 hours/day, 7 days/week, please call 1-669-272-1295
 - Email: During normal business hours ONLY, SGUTravel@amexgbt.com
- SGU:
 - Erin Berrell eberrell@sgu.edu
 - Cecilia Hankey chankey@sgu.edu

4. If a Hotel is Needed

- Ask Your Airline: Some airlines provide hotel accommodations or vouchers for overnight delays. Ask if this service is available when you speak to customer service.
- Book Early: If the airline does not provide accommodation, use travel apps or websites to book a hotel room as soon as possible, as availability can decrease quickly.
- Keep Receipts: If you have to pay for a hotel yourself, keep all receipts. You may be able to claim reimbursement from the airline. If not, SGU can possibly reimburse you for the cost of the hotel. Please contact Erin Berrell to discuss travel expense reimbursement.

5. Plan for Comfort

- Pack Essentials: Keep essentials like snacks, chargers, a change of clothes, and other necessary items in your carry-on to stay comfortable during unexpected waits.

We hope these tips help you feel prepared in case of any travel disruptions. Safe travels!
